Administered and led by the Municipal Water District of Orange County (MWD OC), the Water Energy Education Alliance (WEEA or Alliance) is a statewide coalition of education, workforce advocacy, and industry leaders working together to build and strengthen quality career pathways to water and energy jobs for all California students. With participation from more than 200 organizations statewide, WEEA is a powerful connector, bridging knowledge, expertise, and resource gaps between formal and informal educational institutions and the water and energy sector, ensuring workforce training aligns with employer needs. This collaboration mutually benefits businesses, educational institutions, young students, and their future families. Students participating in programs with a clear focus are more likely to graduate high school, attend college, find jobs, and earn higher wages.

To date, WEEA has successfully catalyzed multiple connections and partnerships by uncovering schools' programmatic and academic needs while clarifying the technical and employability skills required by industry. Your sponsorship of WEEA will help us continue these efforts, connecting organizations in partnership to develop programs that contribute to a stronger, more qualified, and prepared workforce.
